PLAYING OF CAPT. WISE OUT-

Aerial Attack of Visitors Brings

By JACK O'REILLY
The Crusaders still continue to struggle up the increasingly difficult climb now being traversed by the undefeated teams to the peak of gridiron supremacy by humbling the Catholic University Cardinals in last Saturday's game, 14-6. Judging from the business-like manner by which the men of McAuliffe swept to a touchdown in the opening moments of the game, it seemed as if the Redbirds were to twitter the Crusaders' swan song to the ranks of the unbeaten.
But the overhead cleverness of the visitors merited only a single touchdown, and Captain Billy Wise led his fighting pack over the goal line twice.
With three long passes and a couple of line shots, the Cardinals had registered a touchdown before five minutes of play had elapsed. Foley and Harvey tossed and received passes between them that had the Crusader secondary defence worried, not to mention the fear of 5500 spectators who were wondering if the Purple banners were to be lowered. It was not until the second period that the Purple broke into the scoring column to forge ahead when Wise booted the extra point.
Two other bids for touchdowns were tossed to the winds by fumbles within the fifteen-yard line, while half-time also found the ball that distance from the Cardinals' goal line.
Loose handling of the ball and a weakened defence against passes were the glaring defects in Saturday's game, and the entire team was still playing below its standard.
Gridiron dopesters may nod their graniums dismally at the result of the game, but still there is a fighting spark left in the Purple jerseys.
While absence of experience and technique in the new faces in the lineup may affect the entire team, yet they are fighting and determined to keep their heads up. The passing of the visitors should have been broken up earlier, and their slams at the center of the line should have gone for no

New Supplement Called
"Knightlife" Out Friday
The managing board of the new humorous supplement to THE TOMA-HAWK met last evening and unanimously voted to change the name of the proposed publication to "Knightlife." The former title was "Cap and Town."
It was hoped to have the first issue out today, but delays at the printers made this impossible. The board, however, announces that they hope to have the first number off the press
Friday, if no further delay intervenes.
The title drawing is being done by Philip A. Hurley, '27, who had already made the strip for "Cap and Town."
The new supplement will be published under the direction of Adrian Burke, '27, business manager of the Purple. All seniors and underclassmen are urged to contribute to columns such humorous anecdotes, especially about college life, as may come to them. Humorous drawings are also solicited.

VAGABONDS NAME CONTEST WINNERS

Five Plays Selected for Presentation From Twenty-two Submitted in Contest

ONE-ACT PLAY NIGHT SCHEDULED FOR DEC. 9

At the regular weekly meeting held last Friday, the Vagabond Players formally launched the plans for the annual One-Act Play Night to be held on December 9. The recent fire in Fenwick Hall threatened to cause a postponement of the production, but after an inventory had been taken, it was found that the scenery to be used in the plays had not been damaged. Mr. Maxwell, S.J., Moderator, assured the Production Committee that the stage would be repaired and the lighting system re-wired in time for the production. The Contest Committee then reported that twenty-two plays had been submitted for judging. Of this number nine came from the senior class, one from the juniors, seven from the sophomores and five from the freshmen. The Vagabonds finally made the following selection: "Pietro," by William J. Griffin, '27; "Art," by William Hebert, '27; "Castles in Spain," by William J. Murray, '29; "The Punster," by William A. Kinney, '28; and "Mona Lisa's Smile," by William J. Butler, '27. The calibre of the plays submitted made the matter of judging very difficult and several plays were held over for the next one-act play contest. Among this number, "The Weakling," by Gerald T. Donaghue, '29, author of last year's prize play, was the recipient of much favorable comment.

After the tryouts held last Sunday morning, the following casts were decided upon:

SOPH GREEK CLASSES TO PRESENT OEDIPUS

Mr. John J. Collins, S.J., professor of sophomore Greek, has made plans for a presentation in English of the tragedy "Oedipus Tyrannus," written by Sophocles. The cast will be composed of members of sophomore sections A and B.

The drama will be presented in Fenwick Hall in the first or second week in December, for the sophomore class, and for a few invited guests.

The cast will be: Oedipus, Edward A. O'Rourke of New York, who played the part of Polymestor in the recent dramatization of Hecuba. As Oedipus is blinded at the end of the plays, he will have an opportunity to exhibit the same talents he displayed in Hecuba; Creon, John J. Larkin of Stamford, Conn., who is a member of the Dramatic Club; Tiresias, Gerard A. Manning of Harrison, N. J.; The Choryphaeus, Justin Murphy of New York, who was the leader of the chorus in Hecuba, and who is a member of the Dramatic Club; The Herdsman, William J. Murphy of New York; The First Messenger, Lawrence M. Sullivan of Jersey City, N. J.; The Second Messenger, Charles S. Whalen of Worcester; and Jocasta, either Harry F. Tuttle of Worcester, who understudied John L. McCrohan in the role of Hecuba, or Raymond F. A. Cahill of Worcester.

Oedipus Tyrannus is generally acknowledged by critics to be the greatest of all Greek tragedies, and to have the finest plot ever written. The characters will use the Jebb translation, which is claimed to be a classic itself.

The chorus will not be as elaborate

EDUCATION WEEK CLOSED SUNDAY

Solemn Benediction Winds Up Week's Exercises In Memorial Hall

The closing exercises of the Education Week program were held in the Memorial Chapel, Sunday afternoon. The exercises consisted of an organ recital by Professor John B. Marshall, head of the Music Department, a sermon by Rev. James W. Keyes, S.J., professor of History of Philosophy at Holy Cross, on the subject "Catholic Philosophy in Education," and Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Professor Marshall's recital program consisted of: Chorale in A minor, Cesar Franck; Ave Maria, Bassi; Procession du St. Sacrament, Chaucet; Benediction, Katz-Elert; Carillon, Vienne.

Rev. Fr. Keyes, in his sermon on Catholic philosophy, explained the sound principles on which Catholic philosophy is built, in contrast to the

Griffin Announces Cast For Annual Senior Play

William T. Griffin, '27, has announced the cast of "The Song," the play chosen for presentation by the senior class, and written by William A. Kinney, '28. It is to be produced, and acted entirely by seniors. The cast is composed of men who have been active in dramatic circles during the past three years, and who can be relied upon to give the lines their full interpretation. William T. Griffin, who is directing the play, gained a wealth of experience in that line of activity, when he coached the presentation of the Greek drama, Hecuba, last spring, which was later presented at the Sesquicentennial in Philadelphia.

Of the two leading roles, that of Lieut. Colonel Burlingame has been

Senior Council Holds First Meeting of Year

This morning was the occasion of the first meeting for the year of the Senior Council of Holy Cross College. The Council, which will have under its jurisdiction the deciding of many important matters relating to College activities and student administration, is headed by Robert T. Dwyer, of Rochester, N. Y., President of the senior class. Included in the Council are the editors and business managers of the College publications, presidents and managers of the various organizations, the head cheer leader, and head of civil service. William J. Butler of Montclair, N. J., and Edward A. Cunningham of Chicopee Falls, Mass., represent the Purple Patcher; William T. Griffin of New York City, and Adrian P. Burke of New York City are the heads of the Purple, and Charles A. R. Connor, 2nd, of New York City, with Thomas P. Lennon of Jersey City, N. J., are the Tomahawk executives. Other members of the Council are: William J. Butler of Montclair, N. J., and William F. Hebert of Worcester, Mass., president and business manager of the Dramatic Society; John W. Coddaire, Jr., Haverhill, Mass., and Walter J. Cuskley, New York City, president and manager of the Musical Clubs; August Groeschel, Jersey City, N. J., president of the Mendel Club; J. Courtney McGroarty, Brooklyn, N. Y., president of the Athletic Association; Thomas A. Ryan of Amesbury, Mass., president of the Nexus Club; Timothy E. Murphy, Pawtucket, R. I., head cheer leader; Robert T. Dwyer, Rochester, N. Y., head of Civil Service; William T. Griffin, New York City, president of the Scientific Society; Timothy E. Murphy, Pawtucket, R. I., president of the Philomathic Debating Society; and John J. McInerney, Jersey City, N. J., president of the B. J. F., complete the list of Councilors.

MUSICAL CLUBS PLAY AT WALSH LECTURE

The Holy Cross Musical Clubs made their first public appearance of the scholastic year outside the College, Sunday evening when they performed before a large gathering in St. John's School Hall, Clinton. The occasion was the lecture by Senator-elect David I. Walsh, '93, held under the auspices of the Clinton Holy Name Society. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Kittredge, father of Paul J. Kittredge, '27.

The entertainment of the Musical Clubs consisted of three tenor solos by Vincent J. Dolan, '27, several orchestra offerings by a group chosen from the College Orchestra, and recitations by Edward J. McGratty, '28. Another feature of the evening was the playing of the Schumann Trio, composed of Hr. J. Edward Bouvier at the piano, Anton Lang, Jr., violin, and James Hayden, flute.

Drive to Start Immediately and Will Continue Until Commencement

STUDENTS FIRE FIRST GUN IN DRIVE FOR BUILDING FUND

Two Student Organizations Start Drive With Donation of $150

At a special session of the Senior Council held this morning, it was decided by a majority vote to start immediate work on a drive for the building fund for the proposed gymnasium and refectory. The Council called to this session by Chairman Robert T. Dwyer, adopted a motion that a drive be sponsored by the student body for the attainment of a part of the necessary funds. All members were present at the meeting.

The meeting was opened by the chairman, who urged that the Council take immediate action, as the need of a new gymnasium and refectory was imperative. Dwyer informed the Council that the cost of the building would approximate one million dollars, and that according to the present plan the gymnasium will be constructed where the traditional pines now stand, and the refectory on the site of the present laundry, which will be located on Middle River Road.

The Council will meet later in the week to decide the methods to be used in connection with the drive, which it is hoped will be kept entirely in the hands of an undergraduate committee, composed of members of the senior class. The executive committee will be appointed early tomorrow. Publicity and managing committees will be appointed at a later date. A number of speakers

Ryan Names Executive Committee of Nexus Club

Since the election of officers in the Nexus Club plans have been made which from their inception indicate a year of unprecedented activity. Arrangements are under way to invite some of New England's best known men to address the organization on a wide variety of subjects, each intended to outline the particular qualities acknowledged as promising in a prospect for the position under discussion.

One of the first steps taken by Thomas F. Ryan, president of the club, in his arrangements was the appointment of an Executive Committee which, under the chairmanship of James J. O'Brien, consists of the following: Neal E. Fitzgerald, Howard M. Stiles, Michael J. Mahon, William J. Murphy, Leo A. Fish, John J. O'Reilly, William C. Hare, John P. Walsh, William J. Carolan, Michael J. Flynn, Herve Moison, Edward J. Cassidy, Donald A. King, and Joseph R. Hathaway. At the first meeting of the Committee, business of a gen-

VOL. III. NO. 15. NOVEMBER 16, 1926. Price Five Cents

THE COUNCIL TAKES THE REINS

Phenomenal have been the changes on Mount Saint James during the past five years, and the end is not yet.

Five years ago there were tennis courts on Loyola's ground, and Alumni lived with unimpeded vision over the hills to the sunset. Four years ago there was no Chapel with its two brazen crosses glinting in the afternoon light. Two years ago the site where the tall Ionic columns of the Library are being fitted into place was a green lawn.

Back of Fitton Field there is another lawn, and more tennis courts, and an old, old clump of pines, and they too, are destined soon to go. The class of 1932, or 1933 at least, will wonder what the older men are talking about when they speak of the old Pine Grove that "looked, but cannot tell," for on their way up the Lane they will find back of the stadium a spacious new Gymnasium. They will find also, if all goes well, a new Refectory building where the Laundry and boiler house used to be. For so much we may thank the Senior Council.

The present edition of THE TOMAHAWK carries the story. Let no one miss its significance. It means that the student body of Holy Cross, led by the Senior Council have taken a definite and unprecedented step forward; it means that the students, wearied with much talk and no action about their new Gym which everyone agrees is so necessary a feature of collegiate activity, have decided to take the matter into their own hands, and point and lead the way to its completion; it means the inauguration of a new era in which the student body is to take an active and integral part in the affairs of the College. Most significant, perhaps of all, is that the present Senior class, having already placed the Purple Key on a higher plane of activity than it ever knew before, having introduced the idea of a Senior play, has now taken up the moribund Senior Council and made of it a living thing and a leading force.

It is a wonderful thing, when one stops to consider it, this fact that if the rest of the College follows the lead which the Council has set and in the spirit in which they have set it, the new buildings may, for the first time in Holy Cross history, bear over their portals the title: "This edifice the students of Holy Cross began." Primarily, as always, the brunt of the burden must be taken up by friends and the Alumni, for the students cannot bear it, but this much at least is new, that the motive spirit has come from within.

Holy Cross is glorious in her past; in the wind-blown grass over the graves of the pioneers who brought her into being; the glory of the present regime is symbolized in the whiteness of the Chapel columns, the rich stained glass windows, the tower of Loyola, the broad, massive front of the new Library. In them we have had no part, but the future, at least is ours. The Gymnasium and the Refectory of the future will bear our name, and the stamp of our endeavor. By them we shall stand, and by their excellence we shall be known.

THE FIRST SENIOR PLAY

A project must not be considered praiseworthy merely because it embodies a new idea, yet new ideas, even if they lack the practicability rendering them worthy of execution, are an encouraging sign. At Holy Cross there is, at times, a tendency to cling to known and proved things, and to disregard things which are new and untried; perhaps this can be called conservatism—perhaps it is due to the excellence of the things already founded, and then again it may be caused by a species of mental laziness which has neither the ability to conceive novel things nor the ambition to support them.

1927 has brought forward, in its plan for a Senior play, a thought both unprecedented and worthy of commendation. Any worthy activity which is made a strictly class function serves the good purposes of placing that group in a favorable light before the other classes, of instilling in that particular class the consciousness of achievement, and of producing concrete manifestation of this achievement which might, perchance, generate the germs of more new ideas.

Consequently, when the curtain rises upon the first Senior play ever produced by such a class at Holy Cross, there will come across the footlights, not only a dramatic representation, but concrete evidence of a worthy class effort, an effect staged, produced and acted by Seniors. That the author of this play is not a senior is the only extrinsic circumstance.

Arising from this project of a Senior play, a program has been suggested which is just as novel as the play idea itself. It will be proposed to the members of the graduating class that the Senior promenade be held shortly after the Easter vacation and it would be a splendid idea in such a case to substitute the play in its place in conjunction with the Commencement program planned by the Senior class and the Fathers' Club. Such an arrangement will rest on the decision of the class.

To the Editor:

Some day somebody walking down—or even up—Linden Lane is going to have the bold, dynamic discernment to see that the walk to the right going down, and that used most frequently, is crying to the high heavens and intermediate stations for widening. I say this in full possession of my faculties, plus something intuitive which is to me positively uncanny.

I raised a garden during the war and I've never quite got over the experience. The blind, vibrant, obstinate spirit of the soil is in my veins. It pains me acutely to see the jolly greensward trampled underfoot by straggling students, dallying dons, and absent-minded professors.

The pithy subtlety of our signs, "Please," does no good. The social instinct which pairs off most of us up here makes no provision for the passage of two couples by each other on the walk without at least one of the individuals planking his broadly shod puppies down upon the crouching blade. There is a creamy clay line almost half as wide as the concrete all the way down beside the walk. Where grass once grew is as glaringly sterile as an orchestra leader's head. Linden Lane is the main and almost sole address to the College. The necessity of marking the bounds of its neighboring greenery with the off-side canine is quite regrettable.

To the Editor:

Your editorial on "Holy Cross Hospitality and Fordham" is decidedly to the point. Education begets culture, and why any college man, student or grad, should display a tendency to grossness is deplorable. This is not confined to Holy Cross men, necessarily, nor to Fordhamites.

It has been my good fortune to be associated in rather an intimate way with two branch alumni associations of Holy Cross for many years. I know of the effort that these two clubs have made to be of assistance to young graduates. The lack of expressed appreciation is beyond comprehension, because education begets culture.

If you will pardon a personal touch just to emphasize a point, I will say that I have extended the helping hand to more than fifty young grads during the past thirty years. Of all these men, I can count on the fingers of one hand the number of men who have thought enough of what I either tried to do, or did, for them, to express just one short word of appreciation. Not one man in five has had the common decency to answer my proffer of help, even though I enclosed a stamped, addressed envelope for that purpose. And I marvel at this because education begets culture.

I have attended many of the annual dinners of the general alumni at the college in June and have repeatedly seen the senior class depart in peace after the "eats" ceased to be served. This class was invited to the dinner as guests of the alumni for the expressed purpose of introducing its members to the alumni association. Many times the words of wisdom that were intended for the seniors failed to reach the goal and the speaker found that part of his audience that he particularly counselled absent because they failed to remember that education begets culture.

Last fall one of the undergraduate clubs asked a large alumni club to sponsor and arrange for a football dance. This was done at considerable expense. The exclusive use of a fine club house was obtained, music and a lunch furnished, but the young men were conspicuous by their absence.

The foreign element is creeping even into Holy Cross. Most of the letters sent home from here are written in broken English.

60 Students Used Library During Past Week

During the last two weeks of October, eleven hundred and sixty students used the library in Beaven Hall. Attendance for the past week has fallen off, due to the lecture program in Beaven Hall for Education Week. Students are asked to be careful with regard to the returning of Reserved Books. In the announcement of Library Regulations earlier in the year in these columns, Regulation number 9 was omitted. Reserved books taken from the library on the overnight privilege must be returned by 9 a. m. the following morning. The fine for failure to comply with this request is twenty-five cents per day for each day book is overdue.

Recent donations to the Library include the following:

Hon. Charles G. Washburn of Worcester has presented copies of two books of which he is the author, the "Life of Theodore Roosevelt," and "Industrial Worcester," as well as his address at the 200th anniversary of the founding of the town of Worcester.

Thomas E. McDermott, A.M., '24, has presented to the Library a large and valuable collection of books, including many items relative to Irish music.

Matthew R. McCann, '02, has also given books.

Sections E and F of Freshman Debate World Court Question

The weekly debate of Sections E and F was held Thursday afternoon in the debating hall.

The question for debate was, "Resolved: That in the interests of world peace the United States should agree to enter the World Court without any objectionable reservations."

John Dawson and Robert Mulcahy of Section F defended the affirmative side of the question; while Robert Sullivan and Charles Ward of Section E upheld the negative. William Walsh and Vincent Harrington acted as judges.

The verdict was awarded the representatives of Section E. Edward Sullivan, president of the club, presided.

Former Professors, Fr. Scott and Fr. McNiff, Among Visitors

Rev. Martin J. Scott, S.J., ex-'87, author of many books, who taught at the College from 1891 to 1893, and was prefect of discipline during the years 1901-1902, at present on retreat at the College, marvels at the changes and the great beauty of the improvements about the Campus. Fr. Scott is now doing parish work at St. Francis Xavier Church, New York City.

Rev. Paul V. Levain, S.J., who taught French and mathematics here 1916-1922, and made his retreat here during previous Mexican insurrections under Caranza, Villa and Huerta, has again been exiled from Mexico and is now chaplain on Randall's Island, New York City.

Other visitors during the past week include Rev. James F. Mellyn, S.J., from Boston College High School; Rev. Denis J. Sullivan, S.J., of California, and now making special studies at Woodstock, Md., is here for a rest.

Rev. Francis J. McNiff, S.J., Superior of America, who taught ethics at the College from 1912 to 1917 was also a visitor as were Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. Murray, '08 of Lexington, Ky. Dr. Murray is as present superintendent of Julius Marks Sanitarium.

FIRST PRIZE $1,000

Won by F. E. Phillips, 81 Longfellow Road, Worcester, Mass.

Winning Title "Please your palate but don't punish your throat"

SECOND PRIZE $500

Won by Mrs. E. B. Burgess, 3 Fairmount Ave., Auburn, Me.

Winning Title . . . "Old Gold delivers the goods without presenting a bill!"

"Friend, please your palate but don't punish your throat"

"You like a strong he-man's cigarette."

"So do I. But that's no reason why you should pay for it with a parched tongue or throat."

"Pick a brand that gives you all the punch you want without any punishment."

"Switch to OLD GOLDS . . . and get all the sweet without any bitter; all the pleasure without any penalty."

"They're smoothest—that's why!"

Some men have the mistaken notion that a real he-man's cigarette must be harsh and coarse. That's "all wet." A fine full-bodied cigarette, like a fine full-bodied Havana, is smooth and mellow. OLD GOLDS are mellowed by a new method that takes out all the bite and leaves in all the "kick." That's why you can smoke them without "throat-tickle"; why you can smoke and enjoy them morning, noon and night—without regret or after-effect.

Education For Adults Is Progressing Rapidly

(By New Student Service)

New York.—More students in the United States are studying outside college walls than within. A student body of over 3,000,000, without a football team, class colors, registrars or superintendent of buildings and structures is scattered over the country.

Workers who would strengthen themselves in the "class struggle," workers who would push up into more leisured classes; wives of the newly rich getting "culture," tardily; ambitious high school graduates without means for college; middle aged graduates of grammar schools seeking to gain what they were deprived of by years of hard work; farmers, merchants, shoe salesmen, all types of men and women are pursuing some kind of education after working hours, either by correspondence, or under public library guidance or in university extension classes, workers' education classes, workers' summer schools, folk schools, institutes or museum classes.

For this huge adult student body new methods of teaching are evolving. In England and the continental countries adult education is much farther advanced than in America. But for the past two years the Carnegie Foundation has been surveying the field. As a result, five volumes are being prepared on the subject, treating adult education of all types, from university extension to Chautauqua.

A clearing house for the adult education movement has been opened at 41 East 42nd St., New York City. It is to be called the American Association of Adult Education. It will arrange educational meetings and issue publications dealing with adult education problems. The association's members will include teachers and students in adult education, as well as institutions. It has already established relations with similar bodies in Europe.

GREETING CARDS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

MANY APPLICATIONS FOR K. OF C. RECEIVED

Exemplification May Be Held
In December

Applications for the Knights of Columbus class from the College are beginning to come in to the Committee. The following names have already been turned in for consideration: Arthur Kimball, John Trinnier, George Hickey, Paul Gearan, Daniel DeCoursey. It is expected that many more names will be turned in before the class closes. All names submitted must be read at two regular meetings of the Council and elected to membership before any degrees are conferred.

It is likely that no degrees will be conferred until after the Christmas holidays, as major degrees are not allowed to be exemplified in Advent. If the quota of the class can be raised before November 23, all applications could then be read at the meeting that day, and again at the meeting on December 10, and possibly have an exemplification of the first and second degrees before the Christmas holidays.

It is especially worthy of the attention of the senior class that beginning January 1, all candidates for admission to the K. of C. as associate members must be twenty-six years of age. This is a universal ruling promulgated by the Supreme Body at New Haven, and affects all Councils in all parts of the United States.

If you intended to join this Catholic organization, it is well to remember that if you do not grasp the opportunity now, you will have to wait some years until you have attained the age of twenty-six. The question has been asked, how to join? Simply hand your name in to any member of the Committee and all details will be taken care of. The initiation fee is $15.00, and in addition a member must pay $2.25 as three months' dues.

The Committee includes, Cornelius S. Donoghue, Professor of Sociology; William F. Bowen, Instructor in Mathematics; Edward A. Cunningham, '27; James M. Coker, '28; Edmund J. Fitzgerald, '28; and Paul J. Kittredge, '28.

BAND TO BE ENLARGED FOR GAME WITH B. C.

Mr. Frank O. Dodge, of Worcester, the band instructor, announced that the band class, an innovation on the Hill, is fast rounding into shape. He expects to have three cornets, two clarinets and two sliding trombones added to the personnel of the Band before the B. C. game. These new members will make the trip to Boston with the Band.

One of the traditions at Midland University, Fremont, Nebraska, is a night shirt parade prior to the opening football game of the season.

The editor of the Chicago Herald-Tribune issued a challenge to the students and alumni of Marquette University to erect a memorial to Father Marquette, S.J. The Marquette Tribune accepted the challenge and both students and alumni quickly responded.

Columbus, Nov. 11.—(By Exchange Service)—"Several years ago Percy Marks stood on this Chapel stage and said that 50 per cent of the college students are dumbbells. But I disagree with him, for I think that 90 per cent of the college students are dumbbells when it comes to general culture."

This was what Professor Roderick Peattie of the department of geography said at the fraternity scholarship program in the Chapel, of Ohio State University at which he was the principal speaker.

The following rules were recently posted by the faculty of a small college in Kansas for the regulation of student morals:

"No dresses shall be worn to college which are shorter than six inches below the knee.

"Use or possession of lip-sticks or rouge on school campus is prohibited.

"No slang phrases or immodest language shall be employed.

"Wearing of belts by boys is prohibited, their use to be supplanted by suspenders.

If the constitution is wrecked by college debaters who argue the merits and demerits of Prohibition eternal obloquy will not descend upon two North Dakota colleges. They have notified Pi Kappa Delta National Forensic Society that they will not prepare debating teams to argue that the Volstead Law needs amendment to permit the sale of light wines and beers. The society chose as the year's subject for men's forensics: "Resolved that the Volstead Law be amended to permit the sale of light wines and beer."

Dakota Wesleyan University, through its president, E. D. Kohlstedt, protested against the subject and declared that no Wesleyan debator would lift his voice in the affirmative, but offered to develop a team to uphold the negative of the "unethical" question against all comers. Northern State Teachers College of Aberdeen seconded the protest, declaring that the subject "verges on repudiation of the Constitution," and saying: "This college stands for law enforcement."

COMMUNICATION

and we again draw the conclusion that many forgot that education begets culture.

Two years ago the above alumni club underwrote the heavy risk of bringing the Holy Cross Glee Club and the similar club of a sister college together for a joint concert. Another local club of loyal women gave the visiting singers a bountiful supper in their beautiful club house. I have yet to hear that either party was thanked by the young men for whose pleasure these affairs were arranged and this in spite of the fact that education begets culture.

And so, even though there be "Ingratitude for this treatment," let me say that, "It is to be hoped that this spirit of hospitality which makes Holy Cross a home as well as a college will endure with the years of her further development and progress," and that all of her sons will remember that education begets culture.

Film of Eucharistic Congress to Be Shown at Boston Opera House

Motion Picture Taken by Fox Film Corporation Is Of Historical Value

Under the distinguished patronage of His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell, the official motion picture of the Eucharistic Congress at Chicago will be given its initial Boston showing at the Boston Opera House, beginning Sunday evening, November 21, at 8.30 and continuing thereafter for two weeks. There will be matinee and evening performances each day, including Sundays. A dramatic prologue will precede the film and the special music will be furnished by an augmented symphony orchestra, and a large pipe organ, which is being installed in the Boston Opera House for the occasion.

The film of the Congress is a feature picture of eight reels which has been prepared by the Fox Film Corporation under the supervision of the executive committee of the Congress. In its preparation the service of twenty-two expert cameramen, in both Europe and the United States, were called upon, and more than 30,000 feet of film were used.

A number of the "shots" of the ceremonies at Chicago are tremendously impressive, in some of which as many as 400,000 persons are shown crowded about the great stadium on the lake front. The views of the enormous crowds on the seminary grounds at Mundelein on the closing date of the Congress and the Eucharistic procession in the rain and hail, are believed to be the most strikingly effective motion pictures ever produced.

It is said that the pictures taken at night of the great crowd of more than 250,000 men that thronged the stadium for the special meeting under the auspices of the Holy Name Society are among the very finest examples of motion picture photography ever obtained. The great field of the stadium is shown illuminated with the light from the candles held in the hands of the men during Benediction.

Of particular interest to Bostonians are the scenes of the events incident to the landing of the Papal Legate and the other European Cardinals and churchmen in New York. The several parades and processions which crowded so fast, one upon the other, are shown clearly, as are the formal welcoming ceremonies at the Cathedral, the civic welcome at the City Hall when the freedom of the city and state was tendered to the Cardinal Legate, and the thrilling departure of the now famous "red train" which bore the foreign prelates, with Cardinal Hayes, to Chicago.

There are "action" pictures, again. But remarkable for their detail, of the various reception committees which did much to emphasize the warmth and cordiality of New York's welcome to the pilgrims from afar. The special committee of clergy, headed by Bishop Dunn, the committee of the Catholic Club, and the several committees representing the various racial groups are all shown, as are the marching contingents of the old "Fighting Sixty-ninth," the Clason Point cadets, the students from St. Francis Xavier's High School, the St. Jean Baptiste boys, and the others. There is a number of excellent views of a special guard of honor to the Cardinal Legate, of the Police Band, the Honor Squad from the Fire Department, and the committee of laymen representing the Mayor of New York.

At Chicago, likewise, New York and Boston's participation in other side ceremonies and deliberations of the Congress are vividly shown. The excellent airplane views of the more than a million pilgrims who stood about on the grounds at Mt. Moineau to listen while Cardinal Hayes preached to the greatest audience ever assembled anywhere. His Emphasis is shown in the picture from the first greeting of the Papal Legate at Quarantine when Cardinal Bonzano embraced him, until the close of the Benediction service on the last day.

This film of the Eucharistic Congress, which is said to be the finest dealing with a purely religious event onstration ever to be exhibited professionally in the United States, will be shown in a number of the largest cities of the country after its initial showing in New York and Boston. The special committee to supervise the showing has been set up in New York with offices in the Longacre Building, Forty-second Street and Broadway and will terminate its showing on Sunday night, December 5.

Purple Trounces C. U. Cardinals

Lack Driving Power in Pinches And Lose Many Chances To Score

But the stellar work of the versatile and hustling Wise, and the defensive work of Phelan and Connors warrants plenty of confidence in the team to play much better than they did Saturday.

The Crusaders outrushed the visitors by 100 yards, while the Cardinals outpassed the Purple by about the same yardage. Wise to Karpowich, a short screen pass, was the main item in the Crusader passing game, and Wise also produced thrills and bravos by his dodging, shifting runs. He and Phelan were the only players to work the entire game, and both deserve a load of credit for their relentless play.

Catholic U. pulled a complete surprise when in the very first play from scrimmage, after receiving Wise's punt on the 37-yard mark, Foley heaved a pass to Harvey for 35 yards. By way of getting acquainted with conditions, Schmidt tried the line and annexed a few yards. Foley again threw one to Harvey on the other side of the field, which traveled 48 yards to the Purple 10-yard line. The two line plays were stopped dead, so Harvey changed roles with Foley to toss him a pass, and he slid over the 10-yard line for a sudden score. Foley missed the dropkick.

The Purple was piling up its opponents, but neglected to charge through and hurry the passer. A few minutes later, however, when Foley attempted to punt, Connors bobbed leather on the Red 17-yard line. But Drais fumbled on the second play to waste the opportunity, and Capt. Shields recovered for the visitors. Fumbling was prevalent all during the game, the Crusaders being guilty five times.

The Purple pushed across their first score in the second period. Wise dropped a punt at midfield, but Drais snatched it up again, and side-stepped and pivoted his way 20 yards through the swarm of Red jerseys, before he was brought down. Dowling and Daley forged through for a first down. Wise threw a neat screen pass to Karpowich over the center of the line for an advance of 11 yards to the enemy 5-yard line. Daley bucked through on two rushes to knot the count, while Wise put his team in the lead with a place kick for the goal.

From then on the game see-sawed up and down the field by intercepted passes, fumbles and exchanged punts. Foley was ever dangerous on the passing end, but three more were intercepted by the improved defense of the Purple. Another scoring chance was wasted in the third period, and yet another in the fourth. Foley had passed his way to the Purple's 25-yard stripe, when Daley speared his next toss and covered 27 yards before the ball was hauled down on the C. U. 44-yard mark. The efforts of Wise, Dowling and Drais resulted in three successive first downs, but when Wise shot a screen pass to Karpowich only a few yards from the last line, Karpowich took a tail spin in the slippery mud, and the leather went bob, bob, bobbing over the goal line.

Soon after the Crusaders got up their momentum again, but this trip also was spoiled. Daley and Drais mashed out a first down from the C. U. 45-yard mark, and away flew the leather from the accurate hand of

CLEO A. O'DONNELL VARSITY GRID COACH

Wise to come to rest in the arms of Drais 17 yards from a score. Wise carried the ball for a seven-yard gain, but Dowling fumbled as he was heavily smitten going through tackle. Linsky of C. U. recovered and Foley promptly booted a 50-yard spiral to Wise.

Wise later got the team to go down the field in a closing, concerted stampede with no mistakes allowed on this trip. From their own 40-yard line Drais and Daley had openers in the shape of a first down. Daley brushed off tackle for 15 yards, and Wise whisked around the end for 10 more. The same sweeping offense of old, which now and then comes back in periodic flashes of snap was made manifest. Wise kept up the parade by heaving a pass to Drais who snuggled it carefully on the 4-yard line. Captain Billy then sped around right end for the tally that made the final score look healthier, and indicated the game more handily won.

Catholic University had an excellent pair of wingmen in Captain Shields and Connors. The latter was a waiting type of end, who required plenty of interference to take him out. Foley and Harvey were a clever pair that were the chief factors in the stubborn battle put up by the South-erners. Wise was undeniably brilliant, and his feat of playing the entire last three games unrelieved proves him the true captain. Daley, Phelan and Connors were the other 18-karat gridders of Saturday's game.

X-Country Teams In Poor Showing

Varsity Comes in Eleventh and Freshmen Fourth as New Hampshire Wins Both

The Varsity and freshman cross-country teams finished their seasons yesterday at Franklin Park in the fourteenth annual running of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association cross-country meet. The Purple Varsity could do no better than to finish eleventh, while the freshmen grabbed fourth place. The University of New Hampshire came down with two truly great teams, and won both races.

The yearling run of three miles was called at two o'clock. Gus Steppacher, recently elected captain, Ken Kiely, and Bill Brennan went out in front immediately, and these three fighters, by dint of the severest self-punishment, stayed in the first five until within a half-mile of the finish, where Steppacher, utterly exhausted, collapsed. He showed his gameness, however, by getting up and struggling to the finish line. His mates were not a whit behind him in this regard, however, Brennan and Kiely, who finished third and seventh respectively, being unable to stand after they had driven themselves across the finish by sheer grit. Joe Trainor, running the best race of his season, was third Holy Cross man, completing the three long miles in fourteenth place. Madden was thirty-seventh, and Hassett, who finished the last two hundred yards with a remarkable drive, was thirty-eighth. Other Holy Cross scorers were Ryan and Gately, Steppacher being unable to keep within the first seven after his unfortunate collapse.

The Varsity race, with a field of 120, representing 12 colleges, got under way shortly after 3 o'clock. The game little band of Purple jerseys was soon aware of the fact that they were being outclassed, but they fought on. Connolly and Murphy were the victims of severe cramps brought on by the exceptionally fast pace that was being set, and were forced to discontinue, but every Holy Cross harrier who was physically able finished the race, even though he was aware of the fact that the Purple was far behind.

Eddie Gallant was the first to come in, crossing the line in eighteenth position. As the men started to come in, they demonstrated that they could and did fight as hard and give as much as the freshmen. Gallant went to pieces as he crossed the line, and had to be caught, and led to a place to get a little rest. Billy Beane, second Holy Cross man, and thirty-sixth in the race, was just as exhausted, as was Phil McNamara, who was forty-second. Dick Buckley and Charlie Birdsall were the others to finish.

COMMITTEE ARRANGES FOR KITTREDGE DAY

PAUL J. KITTREDGE

The committee from the local organizations of Clinton, Mass., making arrangements for Kittredge Day, to be observed at Fitton Field next Saturday, held a meeting Friday night at the Elks' Home and completed plans. Contributions totalling $150 were announced, $50 of this being donated by the Elks, $25 by the Knights of Columbus, $45 by attendants at the meeting and the remainder from individuals and companies of the fire department.

Professor Frederick W. Dietzman, secretary of the Holy Cross Alumni, has made reservation for 300 seats for the game with Boston University, at which time Paul Kittredge, the Purple star, in whose honor the fund has been started, will be presented a sum of gold and a gold watch. Admirers of the Purple grid star in Worcester are co-operating with Clinton fans in swelling the fund, Frank Champagne of Bishop O'Reilly Assembly, Fourth Degree, K. of C., being chairman of the Worcester committee. The Holy Cross band will be seated with the Clinton delegation and the Purple Key club will present a burlesque with a decided Clinton and Kittredge flavor, between the halves.

The Clinton delegation will start from the Elks at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, parading the main streets of Clinton and Worcester, enroute to the game.

ST. ANSELM'S LOSES TO PURPLE FRESHMEN

Touchdown by Sichel in First Period Wins for Yearlings

The strong St. Anselm's Prep football team bowed to the Holy Cross freshman team after four periods of hard, rugged football that was featured by the strong defense shown by each team when a score seemed imminent. Sichel sewed up the game for the freshmen in the first period with a beautiful run of sixty yards for a touchdown, the only score of the game.

Donovan and Brickman proved to be able substitutes for Clancy and Finn, who are on the injured list, although Donovan was also forced out of the game with an injury. After Sichel's long run the Frosh were unable to push over another score, although the ball went deep into St. Anselm's territory on numerous occasions. A muddy field prevented flashy football from being displayed by either team, the main feature of the game being the strong defensive play made by each team when the ball was in their territory. The vaunted forward attack of the Prep team was crushed by the fine work of the Purple secondaries who smeared their aerial game with ease.

In the closing minutes of the game St. Anselm's rushed in numerous substitutes who unleashed a flurry of forward passes which were as ineffective as those attempted by the first team, the game ending with the freshmen holding the ball.

Mangan at fullback was the star for St. Anselm's, while the entire Holy Cross backfield made a fine showing, with Kucharski a tower of strength on the line.

Dear Friends and Alumni of Holy Cross:

The "1927 Purple Patcher" promises to be "The Most Beautiful Patcher in Patcher History," replete with pictorials of athletic teams, clubs, classes, campus views, societies, etc., and write-ups of all events and happenings of the year 1926-1927. (The Patcher Board is sparing nothing to make this year's annual even greater than the wonderful "Patchers" of past years.) (It is not essentially a senior book, it is the one and only authentic chronicle containing every event and doing on the Hill.) Don't let your college fall away from you, keep up with the rapid progress of Holy Cross!

Order your "1927 Purple Patcher" AT ONCE. You'll want one when you see it. But THEN it will be too late. List goes to publisher soon. There is but one publication—if you neglect this opportunity NOW it is lost FOREVER. No extra copies printed.

Fill out subscription blank below and be assured of a copy next May. Do not delay, but mail at once.

Very sincerely yours,

E. A. CUNNINGHAM, Bus. Mgr.

Business Manager, "1927 Purple Patcher,"

GRIFFIN NAMES CAST FOR FIRST SENIOR PLAY

awarded to Charles A. Finnegan of Boston, Mass. The other lead, Major Nevils, is to be filled by James F. Mangan of Scranton, Pa. Both these men have ample histrionic ability, and their presence in the cast guarantees an accurate portrayal of the characters.

The complete cast is as follows, John Grimshaw, Paul R. Powers; Ted Stuart, Neal E. Fitzgerald; Gissing, John J. McInerney; Lt. Col. Burlingame, Charles A. Finnegan; Lt. Campbell, J. Ward Wallace; Runner, John J. O'Reilly; Major Nevils, James F. Mangan; O'Shea, Joseph C. Healy; Tompkins, M. Donald Healy; Moore, John J. Halleron; Mousinac, Clement C. O'Sullivan; Betz, Gerald F. Hurley; Jabiru, Sylvester J. Hartig; Witch Doctor, Walter J. Cuskley; Native, C. Clark Hodgson. Also soldiers, negroes and natives.

The above arrangement is only tentative, and may be changed if any man shows a marked ability for another role.

Copies of the manuscript are now being prepared by the Business Manager, Edward G. Griffin, of Wareham, Mass., and according to present plans, rehearsals will start at the end of this week.

Due to the shortness of time between now and the Christmas holidays, and the numerous senior activities, it is not likely that the play will be presented until after the vacation.

as the chorus of Hecuba. The time is too short to allow for the laborious training necessary to reproduce faithfully a Greek chorus, and also there is no music for the singing, so the chorus will, for the most part, be read by the Choryphaeus.

The only other time in the history of Holy Cross that an undertaking of this nature was planned was when Rev. Francis X. Downey, S.J., now Dean of the College, sponsored the production of Hecuba in the English in the year 1918, when he was teaching as a scholastic.

BENEDICTION CLOSES EDUCATION WEEK

materialistic philosophy taught in the leading secular colleges and universities today. "The Catholic College student," averred Fr. Keyes, "is sent out after graduation imbued with the true principles of Americanism, of law, life and order, be he lawyer, judge, or president of the land."

Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, at which Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S.J., president of the College, was celebrant, assisted by the Rev. William E. Ryan, pastor of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, as deacon, and the Rev. John Lunney, pastor of St. Stephen's Church, this city, as sub-deacon, concluded the week's exercises.

Due to the conflagration in Fenwick Hall last Thursday night, the exercises of Education Week were continued Friday afternoon in the new Chemistry Lecture Hall. George N. Shuster, professor of English at St. Joseph's College and former head of the English Department at Notre Dame University, lectured on "The Influence of English Literature in Education."

Professor Shuster declared that English Literature is the only means by which contact can be made for many of us with the older European civilizations. "It is," he affirmed, "the gateway to our fathers."

He particularly decried the modern anthology of famous works as compiled by college professors of English. The only method of getting the meat out of the subject, in his opinion, is the anthology of the student's own choice. In conclusion, Professor Shuster eulogized Nathaniel Hawthorne and Fr. John Tabb as the most original of American authors.

SENIOR COUNCIL TO START GYM DRIVE

will be enrolled to address the various classes on the matter.

It was proposed at the meeting that various plays be produced throughout the college year, and the money accruing from such productions go to the building fund. No definite action was taken on this, and other suggestions of similar nature, and they were placed on the table until the next meeting.

The resolution proposed by William J. Butler, editor-in-chief of the Purple Patcher reads as follows:

WHEREAS: We, the members of the Senior Council take into consideration the immediate and pressing need of a Gymnasium and Refectory Building for Holy Cross College, and,

WHEREAS: We feel that the Faculty should be tendered some concrete evidence of the whole-hearted support of the Student body for the project of constructing these two buildings,

BE IT RESOLVED, that we, the members of the Senior Council do hereby declare our intention to institute a drive by the student body to obtain the first contribution toward the building fund, and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: that we hereby declare our intention to appoint from among the members of the Council an Executive committee under whose power and jurisdiction shall be placed the detailed plans according to which this drive shall be conducted.

J. Courtney McGroarty, president of the A. A., was appointed secretary of the Senior Council.

Donations of $150 were received this morning. $100 was given by The Purple Patcher and $50 by THE TOMAHAWK.

Club Notes

Metropolitan Club

Preparations for the annual dance are being made by this club. A meeting held last week, the members chose the Main Ballroom of the more Hotel as the scene of their yearly affair. George Olsen and his wife will furnish the numbers for the evening's program. Olsen and his wife will be on hand for the occasion. This will make the best many club has yet used for its annual dance.

Greater Boston Club

The decision as to where the Christmas dance should be held, was made last week. On the advice of the Boston alumni, the Princess Ballroom of the Hotel Somerset was chosen. This all-important matter settles other plans for the dance.

Pennsylvania Club

At a recent meeting of the Pennsylvania Club it was decided the dance be held during the Christmas holidays. The following committee has been appointed to take charge: James Mangan, '27, chairman; August Casey, '27; Edward Lynette, Walter McDonald, '29; and William Broadhead, '29.

No other cigarette ever had so many millions of friends

WHEREVER you travel, by sea or by land, in places of work or palaces of pleasure, you find the friends of Camel. And since the art of increasing life's comfort through smoking was discovered, no other cigarette ever made and kept so many friends.

Why does Camel lead the world? Because only the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos are bought for Camels. Because Camel is given a blending that, regardless of price, can be found in no other cigarette. Because the world's largest tobacco organization spares neither cost nor effort to make Camel the utmost in cigarettes.

Camel rewards its friends with never-ending peace and satisfaction. Through the day and into the night, it's simply impossible to smoke enough Camels to tire the taste. We invite you to answer, now, the world's most popular smoke invitation—Have a Camel!
